Personal cell phones and all internet connecting devices are not allowed out of the privacy of staff living space and offices. Communication at Putney among students, staff, and between students and staff is conducted in person. Students turn in their cell phone and all personal internet connecting devices at registration; staff are expected to fully embrace this culture and to support this practice with one another and with students. Being present in community with students and with one another without our electronic devices is now an increasingly rare and precious thing. This is a radical shift for some but one that must be embraced fully in order to be successful in this position. Staff who fully own this expectation as their own are best positioned to be successful and have a rewarding experience working at Putney.

Once at Putney, we communicate program and schedule information through announcements that may happen at meals, morning Sing, assemblies, all-program gatherings, staff meetings and through posting of schedules on campus. The office is located central campus and is generally staffed 8am-10pm. Dropping in to speak with Tom, Dan and other office staff is welcome and expected.

The school is equipped with toll-free landlines in the dormitory common rooms and or close by to studio and office spaces for use when communication with one another in-person is not immediately possible. Employees having outside projects or communications that are pressing and continuing during their time working at Putney are to conduct those out of sight, in the privacy of staff living space or in closed offices, out of circulation of others.

Possession with the intent to use or use of tobacco, drugs, or alcohol is not permitted while on the Putney School campus or while on duty, including cigarettes, e-cigarettes, all vapes/vaporizers, and any form of marijuana. Employees must never work under the influence of any controlled substance that has not been medically prescribed to them. Additionally, the Putney School campus is tobacco and smoke free. Possession or use of any tobacco or smoking products is strictly prohibited on the Putney School campus.
